

WILDFLOWER BINGO

When we look at flowers, we often notice only their main color. Hunt for these flowers in a local park, your neighborhood or in your yard. When you find one, take a good, close look at it. Then use your crayons, markers, or colored pencils to put ALL the colors you can see on the flower in your picture. Some flowers bloom at different times of the year. Can you fill up the whole bingo chart with colored pictures?

 Black-eyed Susan	Indian paintbrush 	 Lantana
 Milkweed	Bluebonnet Texas State Flower 	Purple Cone Flower
 Evening Primrose	Yucca 	 Firewheel

Some pictures adapted from Roger Tory Peterson's Wildflower Coloring Book.